Teletubbies™

Tinky Winky's Bag

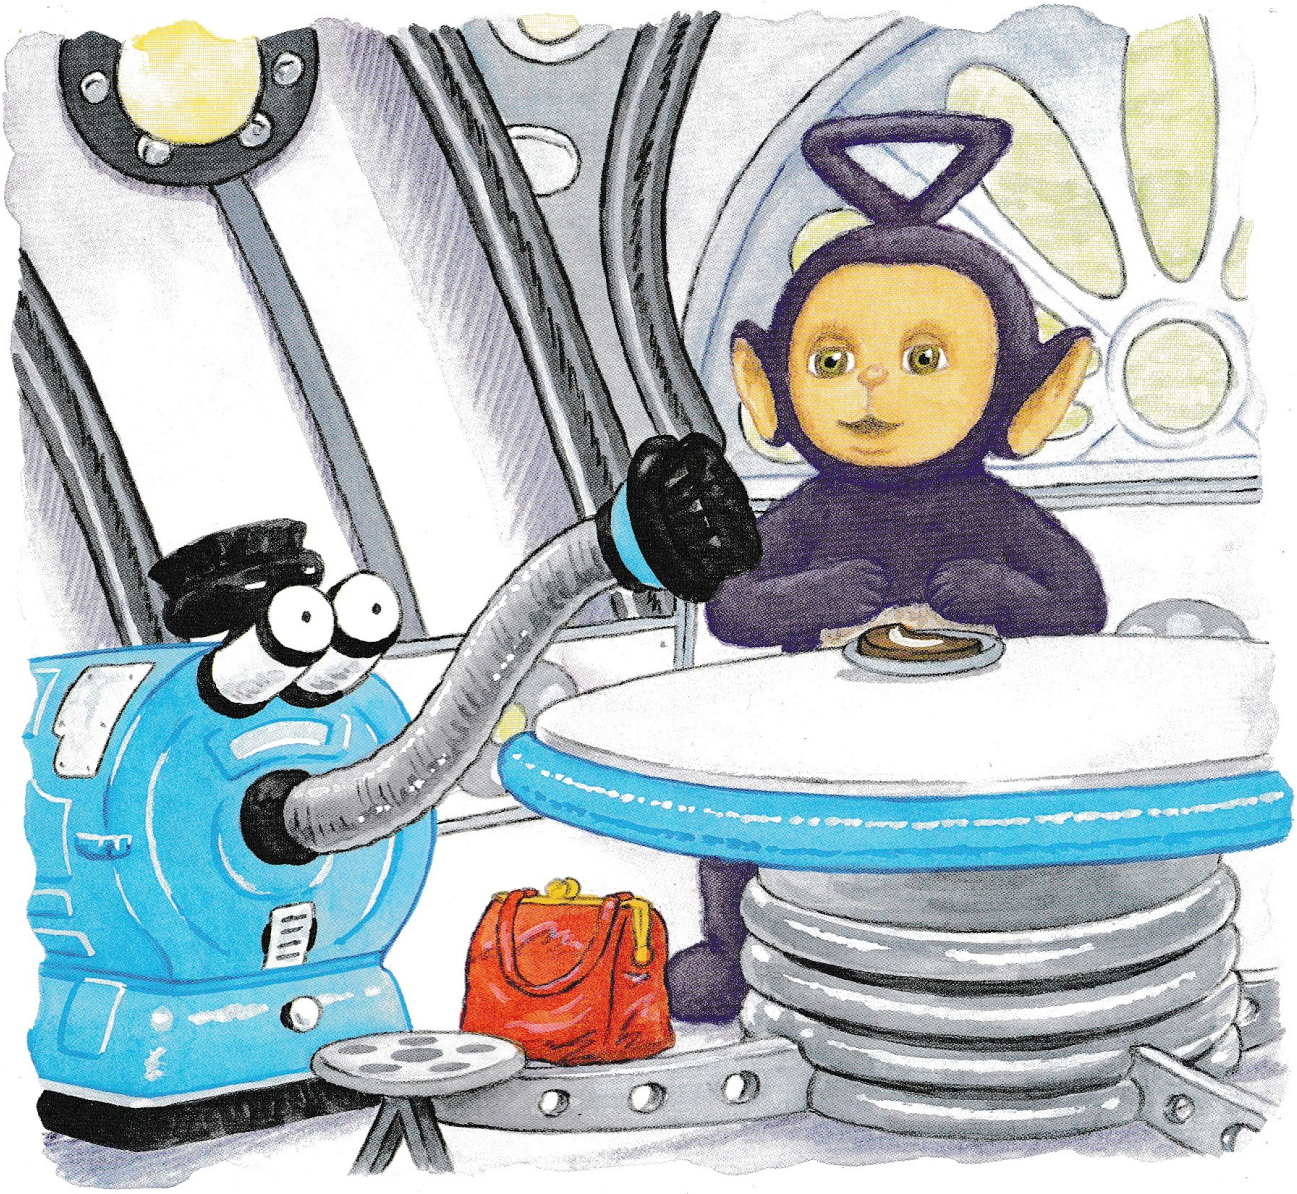
BBC CHILDREN'S BOOKS

As seen on TV

Teletubbies™

Tinky Winky's Bag

BBC CHILDREN'S BOOKS



One day in Teletubbyland . . . Tinky Winky was too full to finish his Tubby Toast.

So he put it in his bag to save it for later.

Then Tinky Winky went out for a walk.

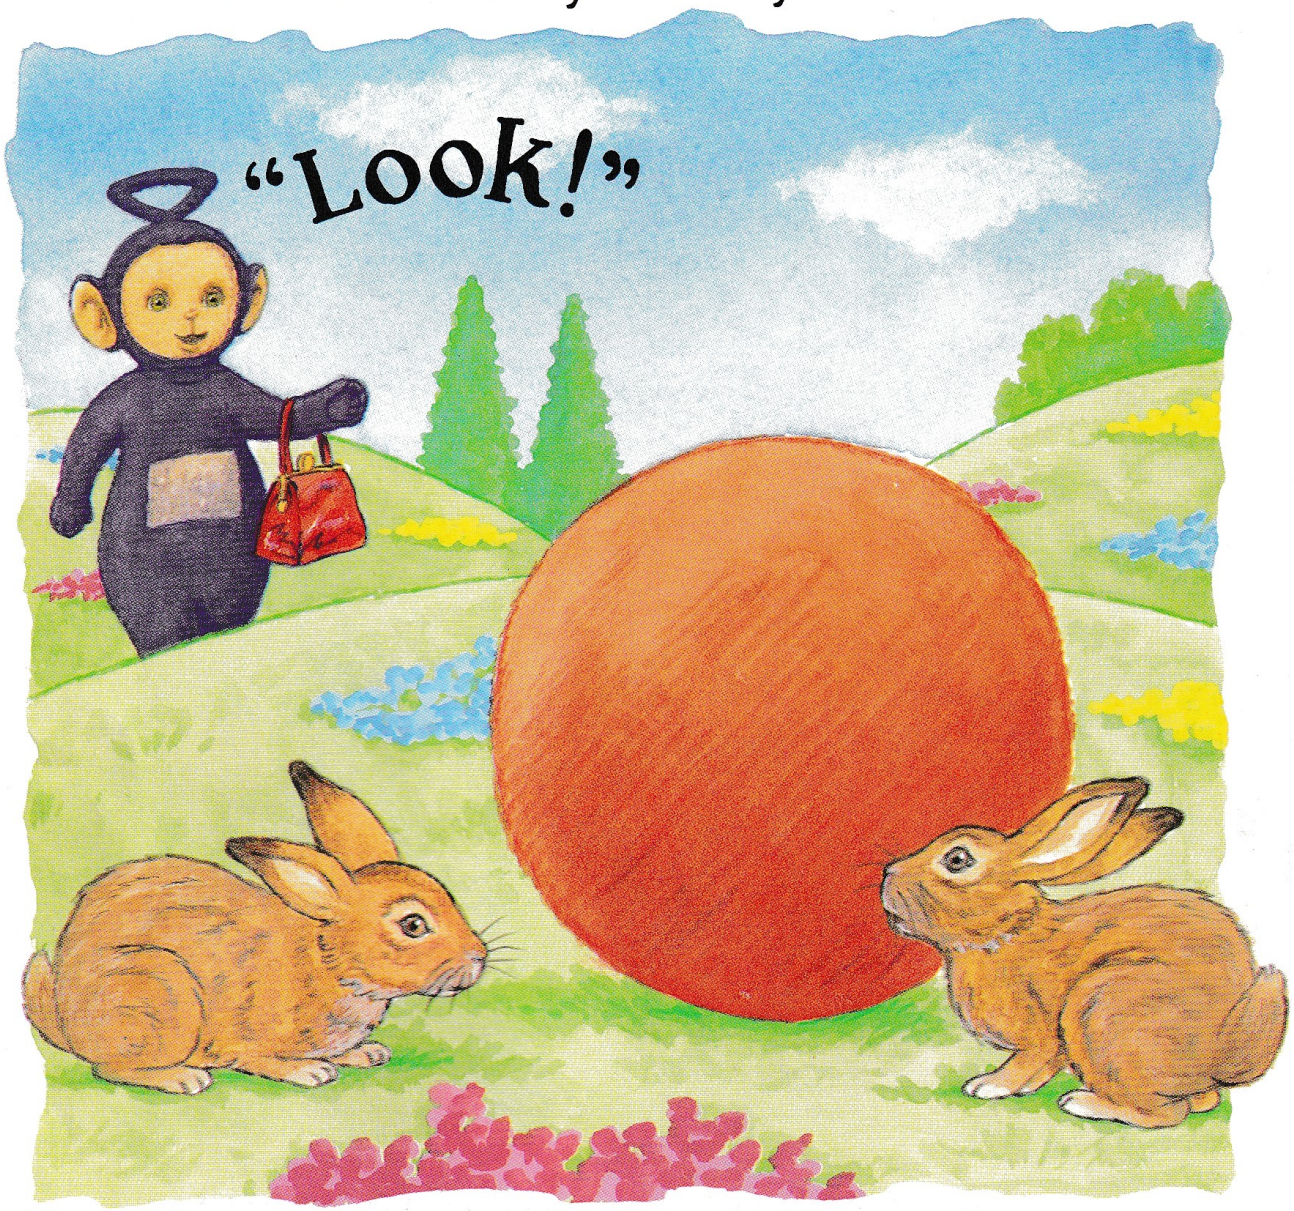
What did Tinky Winky find?

Tinky Winky found Dipsy's hat.

Tinky Winky likes to put things in his bag, so he picked up Dipsy's hat . . .

and put it in his bag.

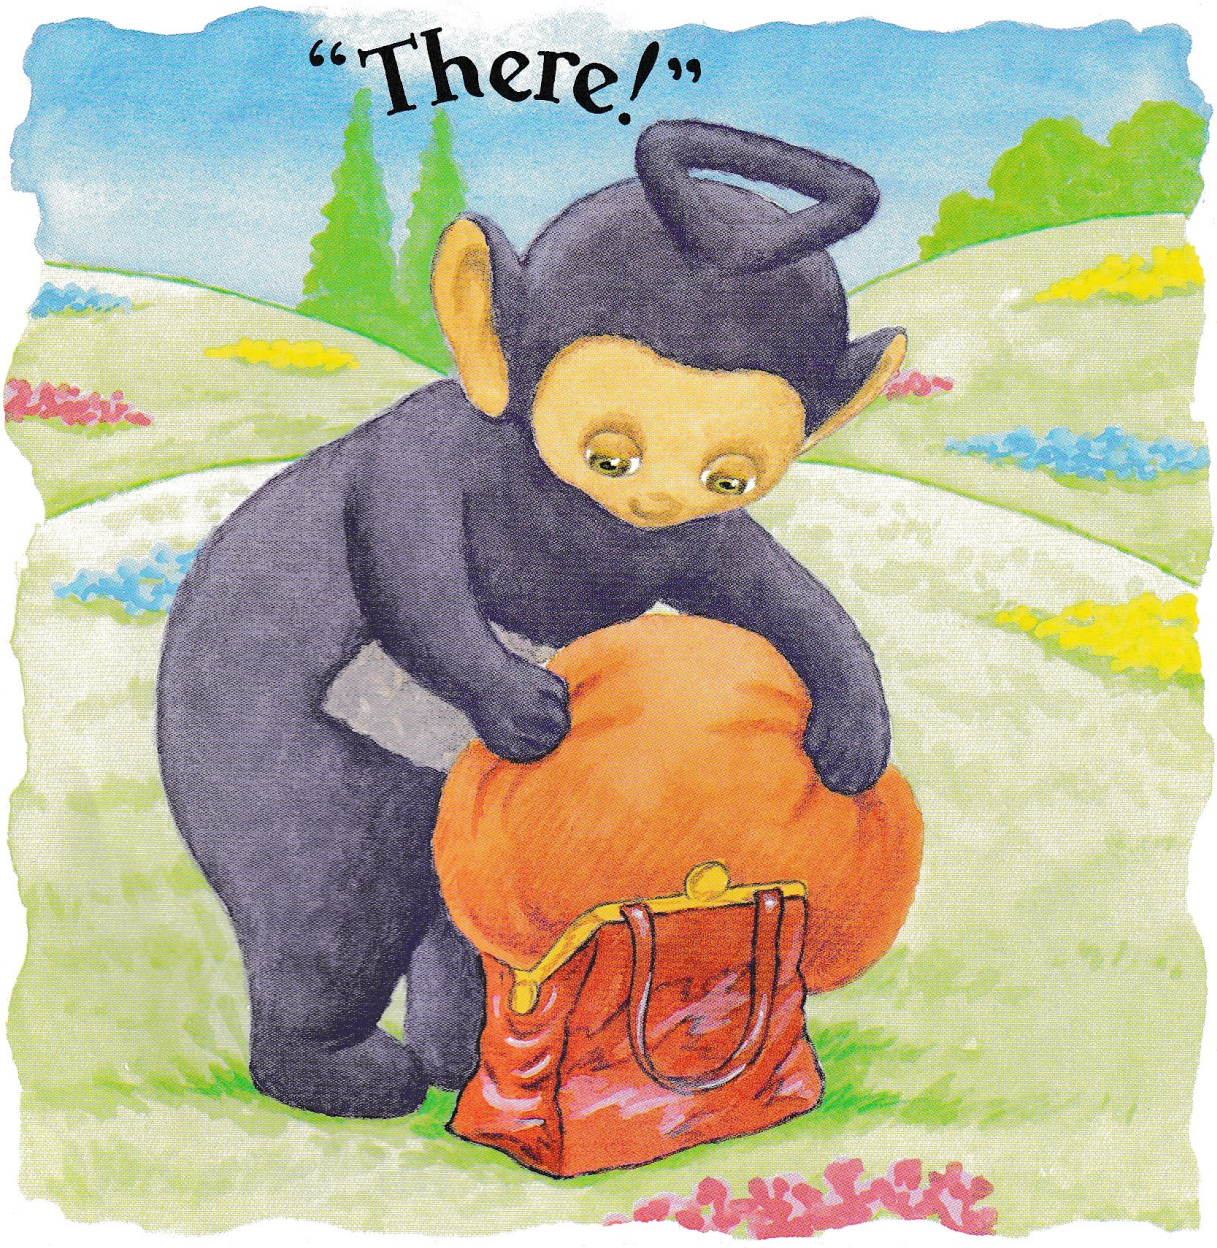
What did Tinky Winky find next?



Tinky Winky found Laa-Laa's ball.

Tinky Winky likes to put things in his bag, so he picked up Laa-Laa's ball . . .

. . . and he put it in his bag.



It wasn't long before Tinky Winky found something else.

Tinky Winky found Po's scooter.

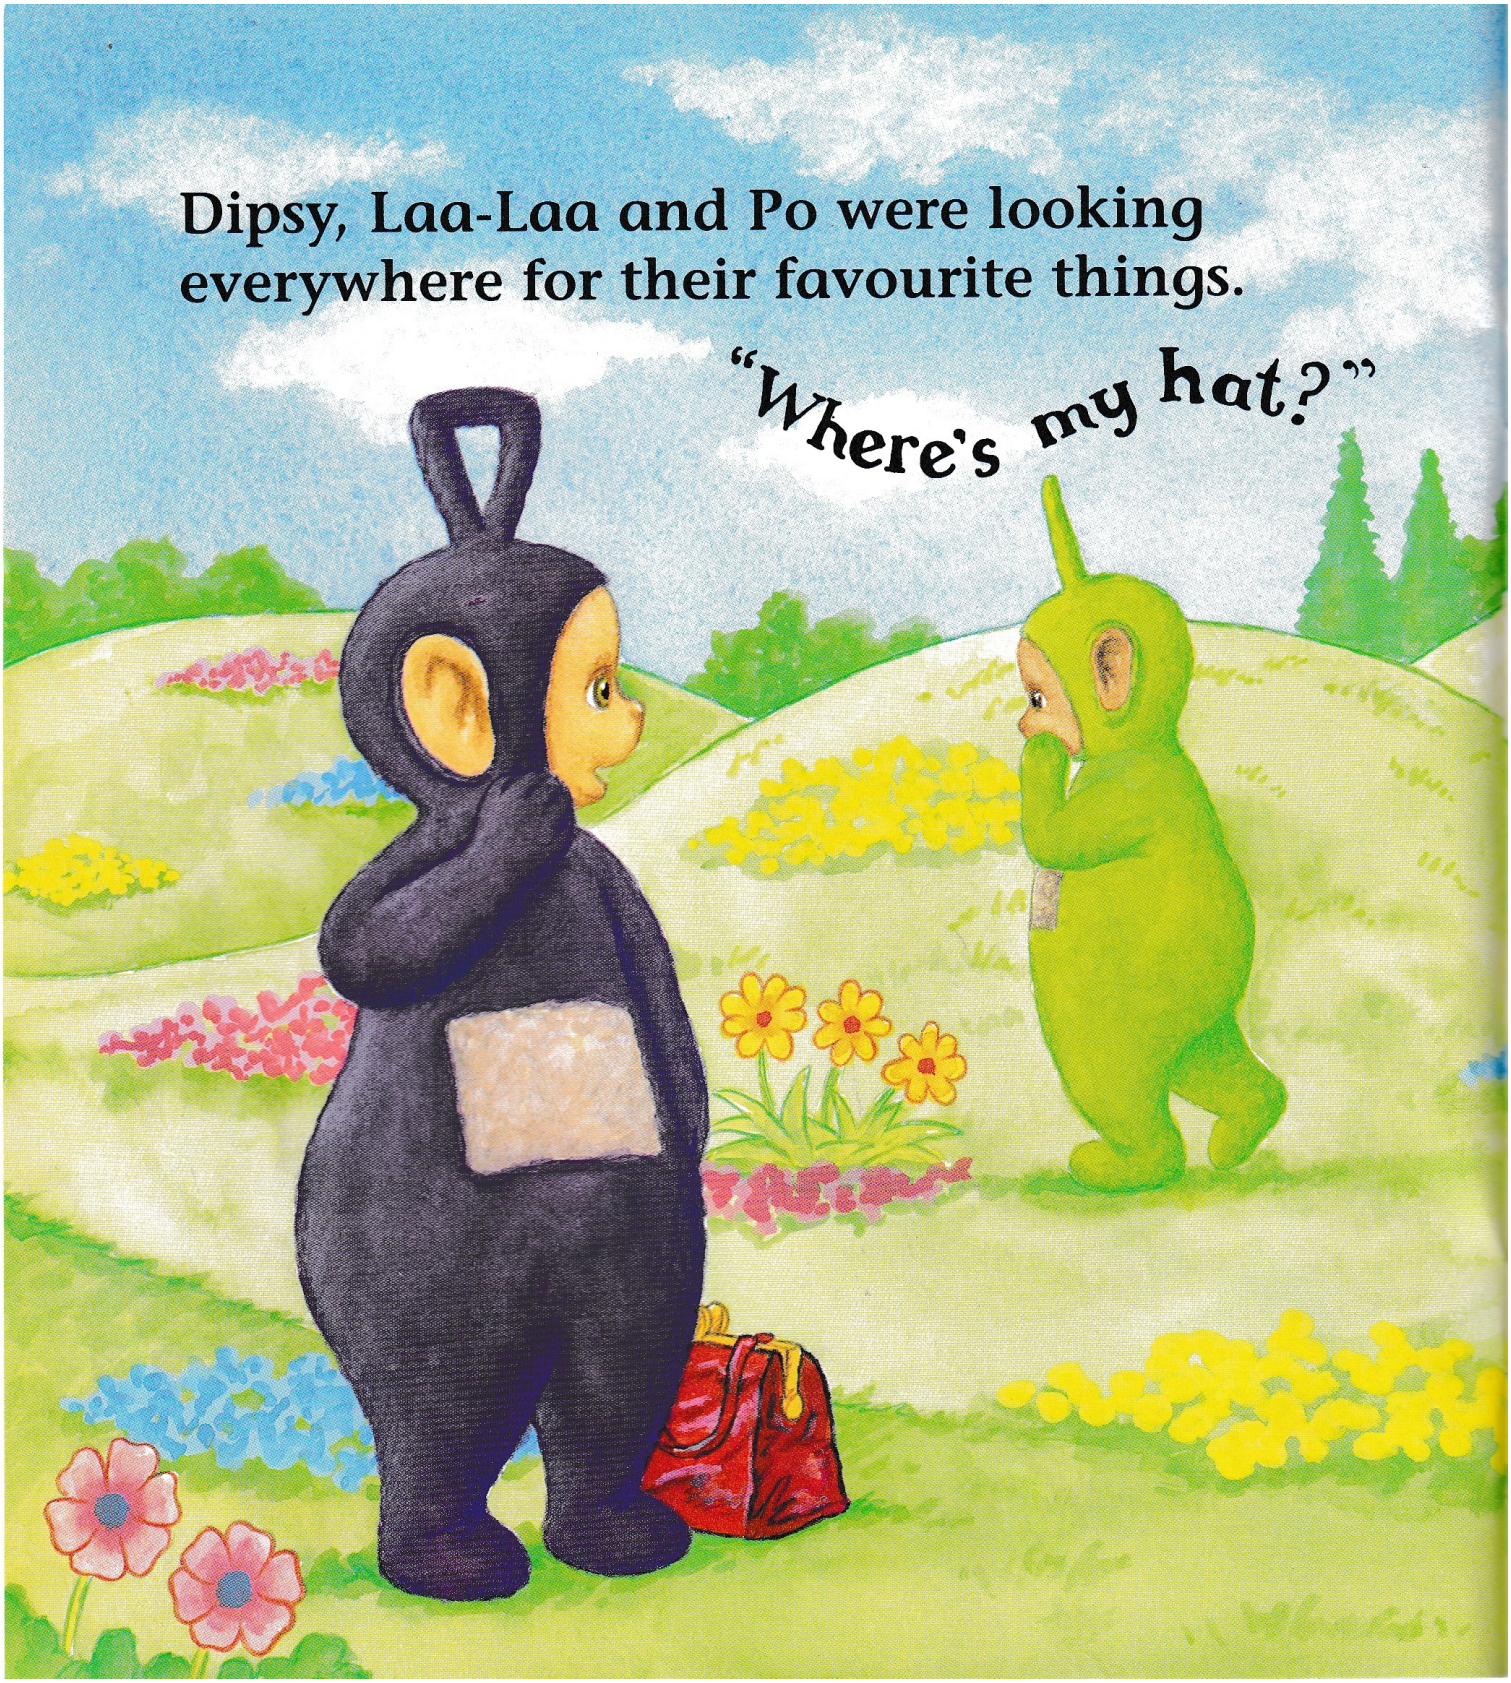
Tinky Winky likes to put things in his bag, so he picked up Po's scooter . . .

. . . and put it in his bag.

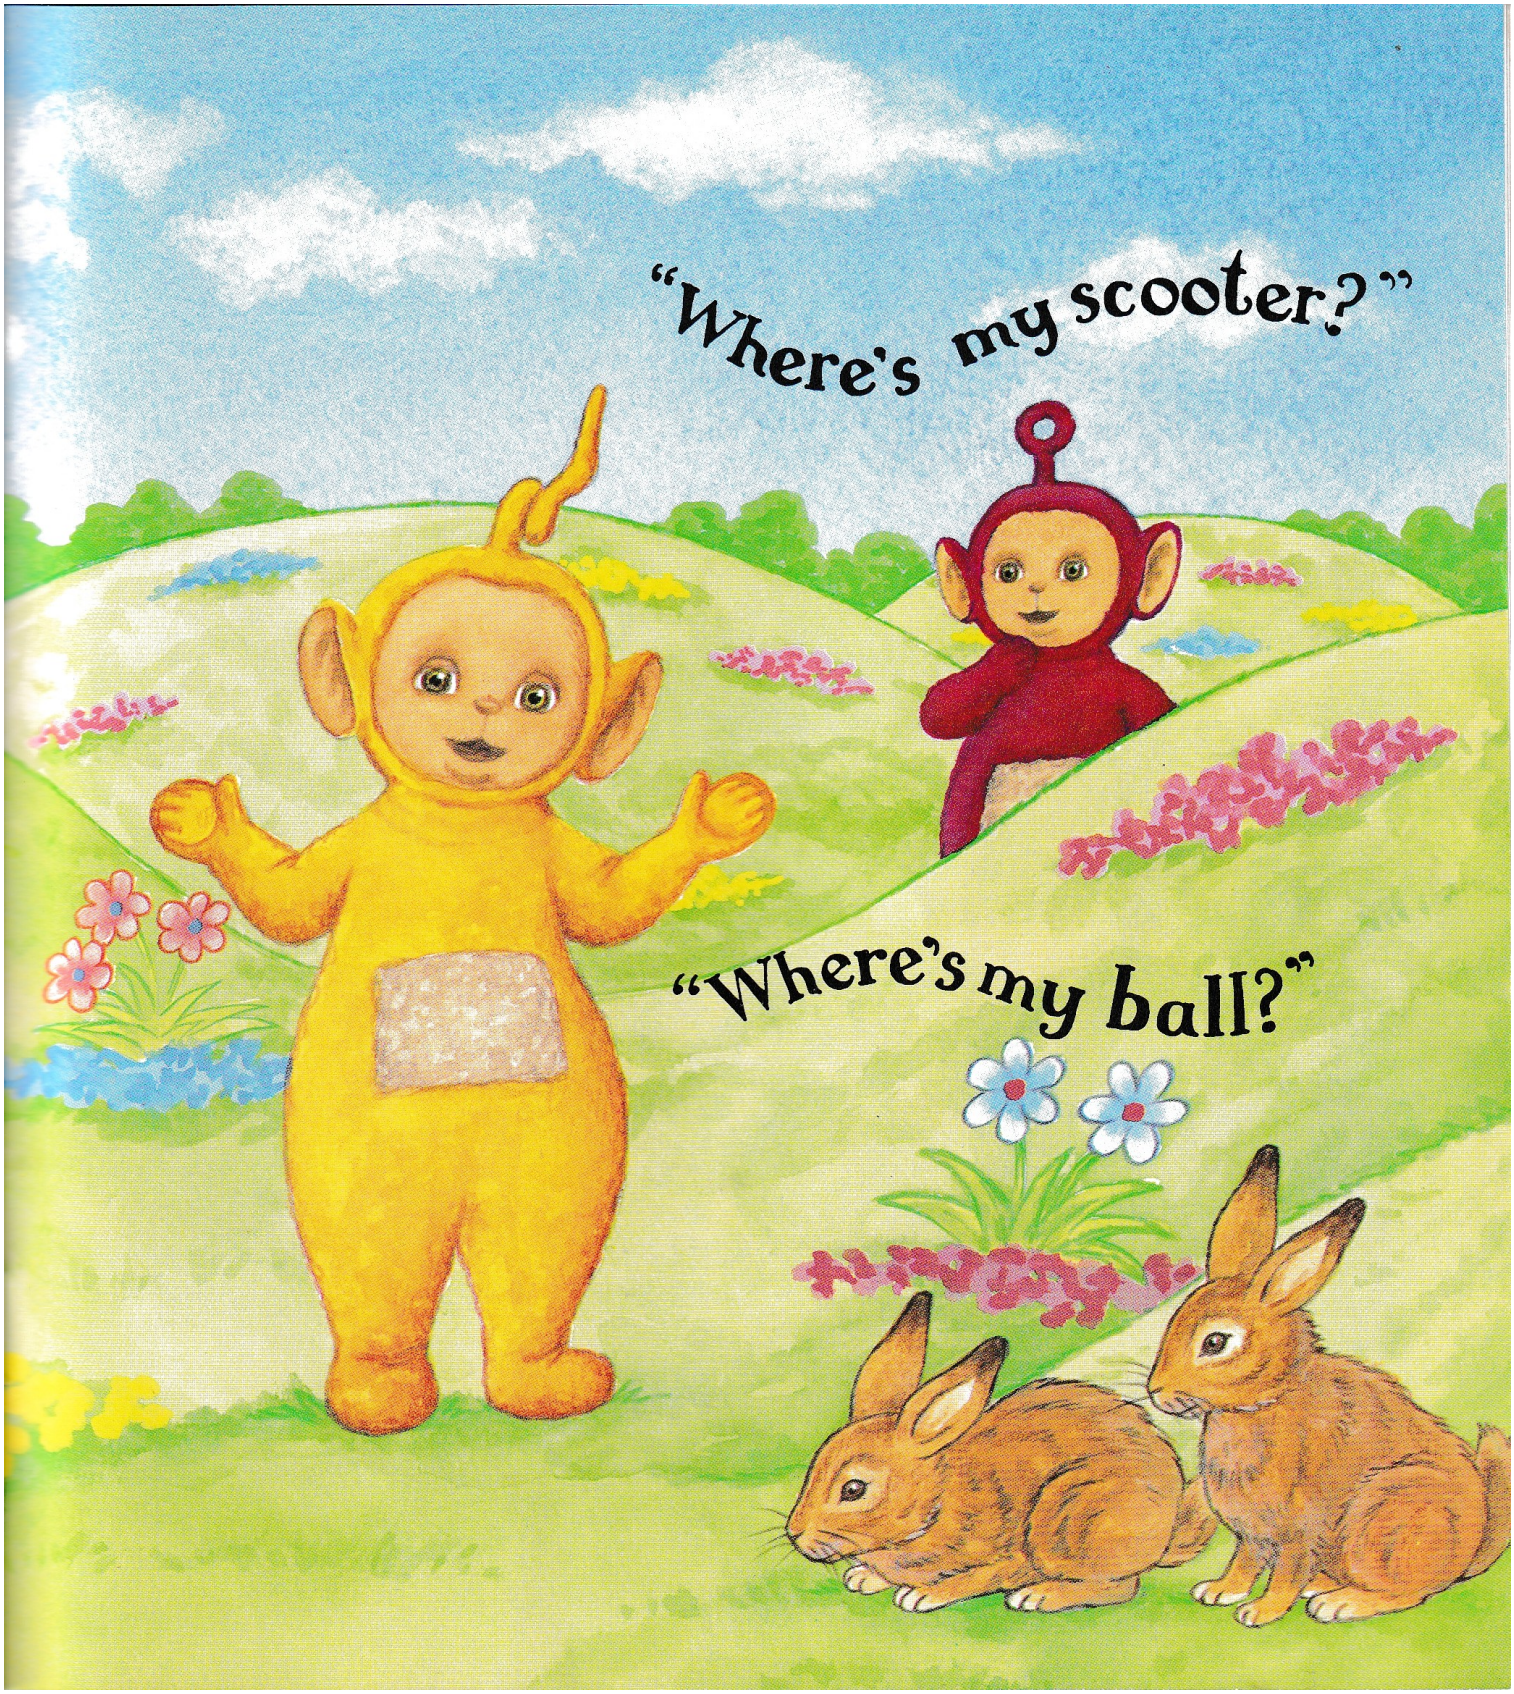
Tinky Winky snapped his bag shut.

Tinky Winky's bag was full up now.

It was much too heavy to carry.

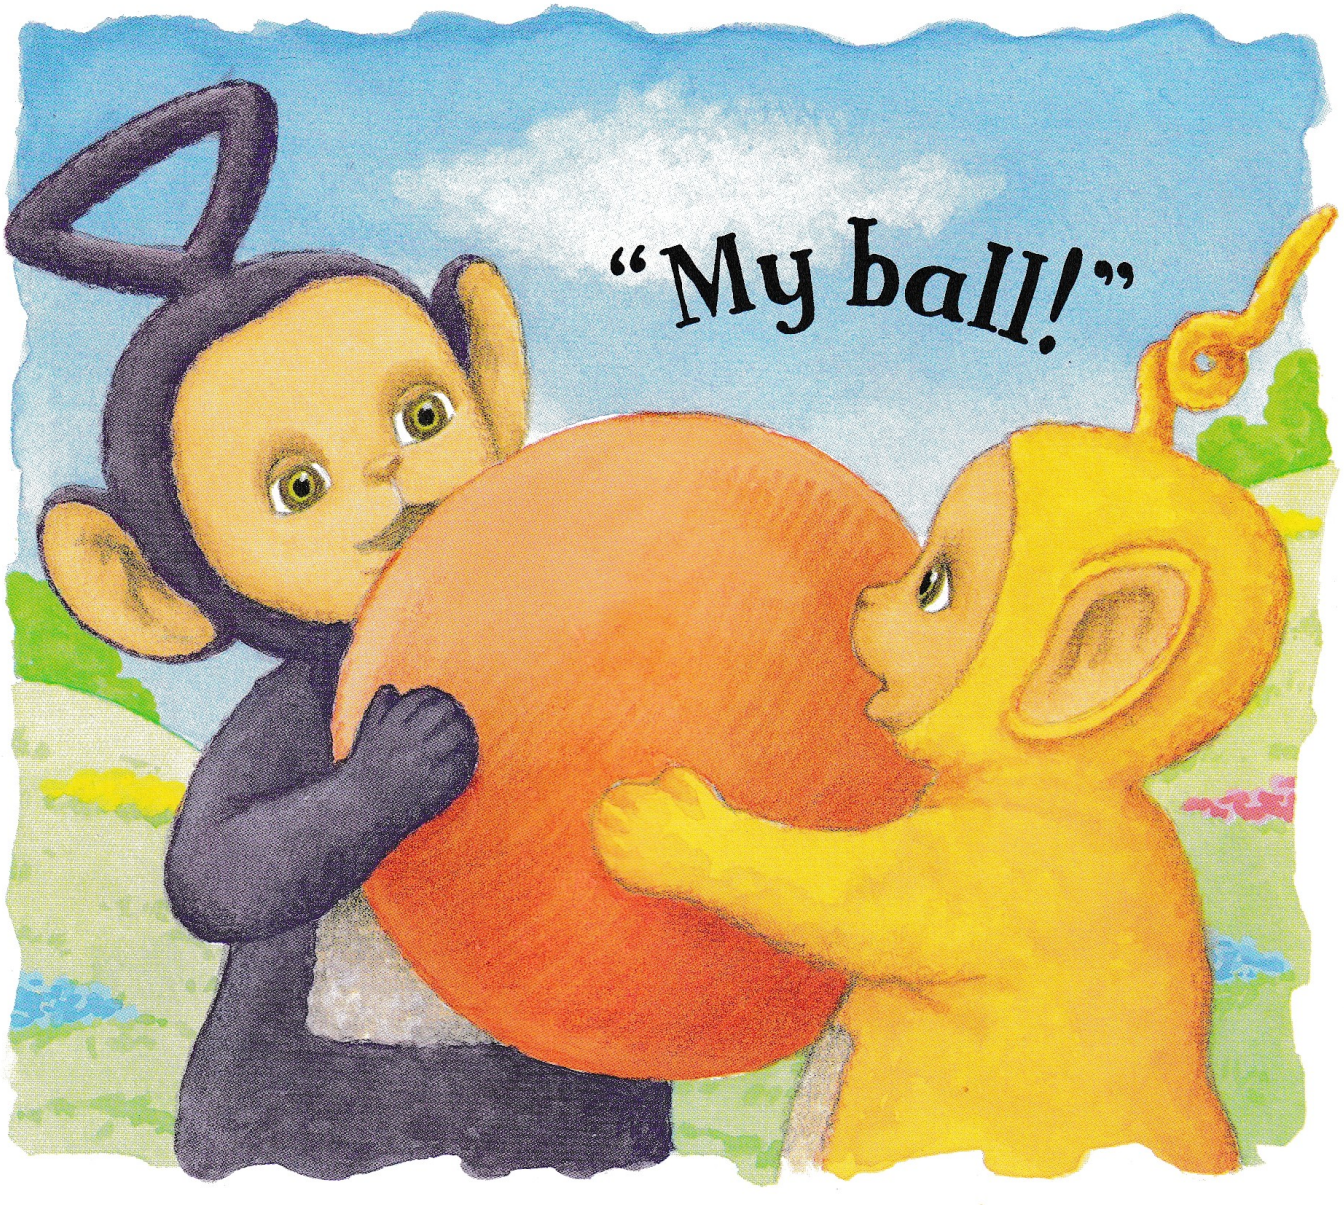


Dipsy, Laa-Laa and Po were looking everywhere for their favourite things.
"Where's my hat?"



"Where's my scooter?"
"Where's my ball?"

Tinky Winky decided to take everything out of his bag.



"My ball!"

"My scooter!"

But there was still something in Tinky Winky's bag.

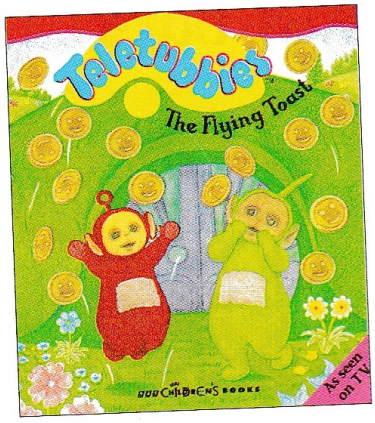
Can you remember what it is?

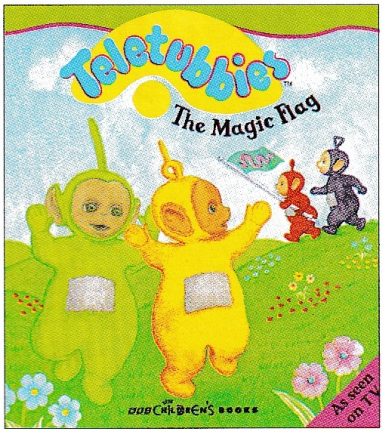
"Tubby Toast! Tubby Toast!"

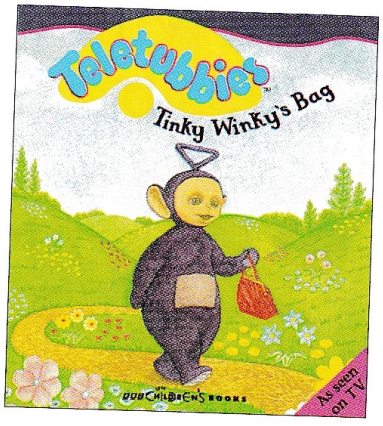
Tinky Winky put the Tubby Toast back into his bag to eat later.

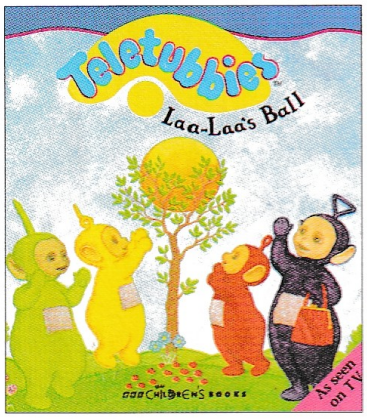
Teletubbies love Tubby Toast very much.
Teletubbies love each other very much.

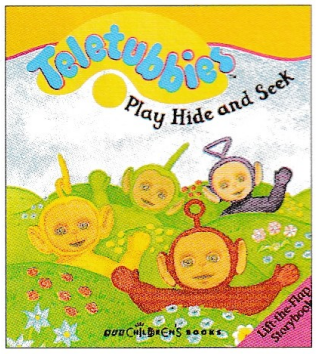
Look out for the Teletubbies books, audio and video tapes.











Over the hills and far away, Teletubbies come to play!

Dance With the Teletubbies
BBCV 6297

Here Come the Teletubbies
BBCV 6186

BBC CHILDREN'S

First published in 1997 by BBC Children's Publishing, a division of BBC Worldwide Ltd
Woodlands, 80 Wood Lane, London W12 0TT

Illustrations by Lucy Su and Atholl McDonald. Text, design and illustrations copyright © 1997 BBC Children's Publishing
Teletubbies copyright © 1996 Ragdoll Productions (UK) Limited

ISBN 0 563 38044 6

Printed in Great Britain by Cambus Litho Ltd.

Teletubbies™

Tinky Winky's Bag

Over the hills and far away,
Teletubbies come to Play!

Tinky Winky's favourite thing is his lovely red bag. One day, he finds all kinds of wonderful things to put in it. But soon, the other Teletubbies can't find their favourite things . . .

ISBN 0-563-38044-6

9 780563 380443 >

Ragdoll
works for children

£2.50

BBC CHILDREN'S BOOKS